

ABSTRACT A hands-free binocular visor headgear for viewing sporting and other events where it is desirable to use binoculars but also have the free use of the hands. An adjustable head securing device secures the unit to the user's head. Binoculars 5 or other optics are attached to the head securing device such that they can be pivoted between an in-use and a not in-use position and can be adjusted for a user's eyes. The unit can also optionally contain removable earmuffs, a removable radio, removable earphone and/or a removable microphone as well as a 10 laser pointer and/or rangefinder. The user can pick and choose what exact equipment he or she needs for a particular sporting event.

15